FARMER MURDERS PARENTS COW'S ANATOMICAL OF HIS DIVORCED WIFE THEN KILLS HIMSELF

Found With Bullet Hole in Right Temple While at His Side Lay a Revolver and Rifle With Which He Had Held Posse at Bay.

(Special from United Press.) Des Moines, Ia., June 30.-Calvin Littlepage, 28, the Dallas County farmer murdered his divorced wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jameson, late yesterday and then atempted to kidnap his wife and baby, committed sulcide early today, after having been pursued all night by an armed posse ay all night.

Littlepage murdered the Jamesons out a rifle and shot Jameson through the heart back to his buggy, took out a rifle and shot Jameson through the heart. Mrs. Jameson had fied through the back door but Littlepage roached. The man fired five shots at the posse reported that it had cornered the last it had cornered the last in a barn two miles from Valley lanction and that he had declared he dould not be taken alive. The posse urrounded the barn to wait for dayand fled with his wife and haby, Mrs. Littlepage escaping as the police ap-proached. The man fired five shots at her without effect. At midnight the light, but Littlepage must have escaped, under cover of darkness. His body was found half a mile from the barn, lying in a swampy field. Just when he ended his life is not known. Mrs. Littlepage, a month ago secured a divorce from her husband and taking the baby with her, went to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jameson. Littlepage demanded to see her, but her parents refused to let him in the house. Late yesterday of officers and farmers. There was a bullet hole in the man's right temple and at his side lay a revolver and rifle with which he had held the posse at

MAN OF FAMILY HAS KICK COM-ING OVER INCREASED SCHED-ULES IN SENATE

Necessities of Life Soaring

Pa Certainly Entitled to Grouch When He Sits Down to Breakfast and Sees What Aldrich Rates Have Done to His Pocketbook

Washington, June 30.-How do the tariff schedules, as adopted by the Senate, hit Father? A careful analyeis of the bill in its present stage we that the man of a family is entitled to a considerable grouch, granting of course that the increases, made the duties on some of the necessities of life as well as on other articles, hold good.

The very first thing in the morning, supposing Pa is fond of bologna sausage for breakfast, he may well wrinkle his brow, for the tariff on that article of food has been raised beyond expression in figures of percentage. In the Dingley law and the Payne bill, the succulent bologna was on the free list, the tariff rate was no percentage at all. The Senate increased the rate 25 per cent, ad valorem. Should he lead off in his breakfast bill-of-fare with a few julcy slices of pineapple, bologna would be the second jolt to his nerve system. Payne raised the Dingley rate on pineapples, the Senate of joits.

The tariff on buckwheat was raised over the Dingley and Payne rates 25 per cent. Unless the milliners are philanthropic enough to bear the tax, father will find he will have to pay more for his wife's and daughter's hat trimmings next fall, and if it is true, as has been alleged in the Senate, that real profits are higher than heretofore.

The duty on ostrich feathers and on artificial fruits, leaves and other ex-hibits from the farm, field and forest that adorn the headgear feminine has been increased 20 per cent. His monthly bill for the children's clothes will also be higher. In the matter of cotton cloth, the House adopted the Dingley rates but the Senate bill raises this rate on common unbleached cotton 125 per cent.; on the bleached, 400, and on the colored or printed 50 per cent. Some of the finest grades show increases of 10 to 50 per cent. and some are under. Knit goods remain about the same, the average rate exceeding 100 per cent. The Payne bill raised the Dingley duty on women's cotton stockings from 20 to 30 cents a dozen. But the amended bill restores the Dingley rate.

But the amended bill restores the Dingley rate.

Idingerie will also give father some palpitation of the heart, for Aldrich succeeded in raising the tariff on laces and embroideries from the present rate of 60 per cent., the highest that had ever been imposed, to a rate varying from 70 to 150 per cent. This falls are those that in the European market sell at less than 2 cents per dozen yards. It should be noted, moreover, that the increased duties are not confined to laces proper but are imposed equally upon all articles of which laces form the most insignificant part.

When father pays his grocery bill he will find that there have been immed, of 50 per cent., celery 51 per cent. The same old rates, however, prevail on such important food supplies as meats, breadstuffs, dairy products, fish and berries. There have been also the following increases on farm products:

Con, 23 per cent; oats, 23 per cent; and rye, 100 per cent. It may afford some satisfaction for father to learn that imported "nand me down" suits are not increased in the Aldrich bill over the 50 per cent. The can on awards this year of the colory has been also the following increases on farm products:

Con, 23 per cent; oats, 23 per cent; heart of the colory at the control of the department of the House of Bishops in America, graduate of Amary and the more public phases of the inquiry. But this the meeting accomplished little because of five absence of Mr. Jones and Mr. Decembers of the department of the House of Bishops in America, graduate of Harvard.

Doctor of Laws—Admiral Charles S. Spent, and the department of the House of Bishops in America, graduate o

"hand me down" suits are not increased in the Aldrich bill over the 50 per cent. ad valorem rate of the Dingley bill. It will depend largely upon the corpulence of father's pocketbook whether or not be will have any reason to growl over the fact that a district. whether or not be will have any reason to growl over the fact that a duty of 35 per cent. has been put upon foreign made yachts whereas they used to come in free. But after all the bills for the month have been received and when father compares them with his balance in the bank, perhaps he may take his choice between chloroform and strychnine, as each has been reduced.

How many mammilla has a cow? Upon such a relatively insignificant anatomical dissimilarity hangs the life or death, or a certain bovine female reature now at the city abattoir, the liberty of Sam Cardowsky, and George Egry's reputation as a shrewd, common sense man who knows his own bovine property when he sees it. Egry complained to the police, last night, that his Jersey cow had been stolen from its pasture at the Sher wood driving park, in the West End wood driving park, in the West End.

Sam Cardowsky of 123 Hallam street, reported also to the police that he hired a man to drive three cows into the city slaughter house and that one was lost, the same being a Jersey cow. This morning, Egry, who had been doing detective work on his own hook, rode up to the police station on a bicycle and hurrying into the office of Chief Birmingham, declared that he had found his cow in the yard of the city slaughter house. Officers Ladd and Hall were told to investi-

Who owns that cow?" they said. "I do," replied Cardowsky, whom they found at the abattoir. "Consid-er yourself under arrest," they said to Cardowsky.

At the police station Cardowsky said she was surely his cow because she had three teats. But Egry staunchly insisted that it was more certainly his cow because she had four teats. Re-membering Solomon's decisior in the baby case, Supt. Birmingham was inclined to order the cow divided and half given to each claimant, but he telephoned instead to the slaughter house, asking that a census be taken of the cow's milking extremities and received the reply that they were three. But, Egry insisted that, despite the deficiency of appendages, the cow was his.

The extra mamilla bangs over the Academic and Shef. Decow like a sword of Damocles. If she has it she lives. If she has it not, she dies. Decision is withheld, while Egry assembles witnesses.

THEY WILL NOT LET PURSUIT OF MAN 'HIGHER UP' CONTINUE, NO, BY JOE!

But Who Is Man Higher Up?

Can He Be the One Who Paid the Bills for that Last Bunch of Raids Before O'Brien Went to Washing ton?-The Laugh That's Going

A smile, sweet but skeptical, ap peared upon the faces of the thousand or more men engaged in the liquor traffic, in this city, yesterday. The smile passed over and appeared upon the faces of many persons who are not identified with the liquor business, but who know things as they are. This well distributed amusement arose over the diligently circulated story that "thugs" are following Axel Johnson to "do him up." But Axel nevertheless denies that he intends to take a vacation. No my, friends, Axel Johnson is not that kind of a man. Thugs that never were on land or sea have no terrors for the head of the official deterrors for the head of the official detective agency to the Bridgeport Law Enforcement league, whose brave Hawkshaws have faced the foaming beer, beaten the five cent whiskey, and defied important wines at a nickel a defy in every place from Seaside Park to the Trumbull town line.

And all, for the story goes this way, because the Law Enforcement league has had the temerity to go after "the man higher up."

"It is to laugh" said a gentleman man higher up."

"It is to laugh," said a gentleman yesterday, who has followed the course of the Law Enforcement league since "Scoop" O'Brien went to Washington or just before that notable exodus. "It surely is to laugh!" The poor, old Law Enforcement league, with its teeth all pulled, until it is just able to potter about a money a few dives which potter about among a few dives which every decent liquor dealer in Bridge-port would like to see closed, is scarce-ly the object against which thugs are cares to meet. If he is, here's a tip for the league.

"Sh! Listen." The speaker formed his lips to a whisper. 'Remember that big bunch of raids a while back, when they got some of the best men in the business and let the a all go? Who put up the money for those raids? Who got the money for those raids? Who got the money hy was the money furnished? If the same that the man higher up,' let Alex put his sleuths on the job. Will the law enforcement league do it? No, it will not do it."

There are some things that men do concluded the speaker, that make them look, beside a thug, as Adam looked in the Garden of Eden when he faced the angel with the flaming sword.

Beginning tomorrow night the reg-ular sessions of Bridgeport lodge, No. 36, B. P. O. E., will be held Thurs-day instead of Friday evenings. The change in meeting night goes into ef-fect with the first meeting in July and will be continued for the future. During the summer months the Elks meet only once a month but during the rest of the year meetings are held weekly. Scarcely a day passes that the new home of the Elks is not visited by members of the order from other cit-ies. Since its dedication there have been members from lodges of other jurisdictions present almost daily and there are few Elks' homes in the country that compare with the build-ing of which the Park City lodge can boast.

Past Exalted Ruler Joseph C. Ivers, who will represent Bridgeport lodge and the grand lodge reunion in Los Angeles the week of July 11, will leave for the Pacific coast on Monday, July 5. Other members of the order who have arranged to attend the grand lodge reunion are Walter Laidlaw, George Green and James Reeves, Mr. Laidlaw will be accompanied by his wife, and before returning east will wife, and before returning east will pass a week at Yellow Stone park.

Measure Is Intended to Work a Gradual Reduction in Number of Places Where Liquor is Sold-County Commissioners Have Same Powers as Hitherto In Refusing to Grant Licenses.

(By Our Staff Correspondent.) Hartford, June 39 .- A bill potent with offuence on the future of the liquor traffic in the state of Connecticut and especially in the populous cities of the state went through the House this morning with a rush. Its passage in the Senate seems well assured. The bill is the same draft by Rep. Peck of Stratford, who offered to it one amendnent only, and that to make it cerment only, and that to make it cer-tain that no new license can anywhere be issued until the number of saloons in being is less than one to every 500 of population. This was merely clear-ing away an obscurity in the verbiage of the bill and was adopted. The bill follows:

Section 1. The county com of each county may license, for a per-iod not extending beyond the first Monday of the month following the monday of the month tollowing the next annual town meeting, unless otherwise provided by law, by a writ-ing signed by themselves, suitable per-sons to sell or exchange spirituous and intoxicating liquors in suitable places in those towns within their respective counties in which such licenses can legally be granted, and upon written application in the manner provided by law. Transfers of licenses may be allowed from any person who has not been convicted of a violation of the law concerning the sale of spirituous and intoxicating liquors during the year next preceding the application for such transfer and against whom no intoxicating liquors in suitable places such transfer and against whom no proceedings for such violation are pending, to any person who has not been so convicted within one year next eding such application and against whom no procee tion are pending.
